What the Dinosaurs Saw

Life on Earth Before Humans

Fatti Burke

A beautifully illustrated account of how Earth came to life.

Our whole universe began as a tiny dot, filled with so much hot, dense energy that it burst. This event was the Big Bang, and from the remnants of that explosion, our whole universe was born. From those earliest beginnings 3.5 billion years ago to the mighty dinosaurs who roamed Earth 250 million years ago, this is the story of how life adapted, evolved, and survived exploding stars, flying meteoroids, and natural disasters.

With amazing facts and awe-inspiring illustrations, What the Dinosaurs Saw is a vibrant and accessible depiction of the earliest days of our universe and life on Earth.

Fatti Burke is an illustrator from Co. Waterford, Ireland. What the Dinosaurs Saw is the first book she has authored as well as illustrated. Fatti lives in Portugal.
Fox

A Circle of Life Story

Isabel Thomas

From the author-illustrator pairing behind the acclaimed Moth, a scientific look at the circle of life.

In the frost-covered forest of early spring, fox is on a mission to find food for her three cubs. As they grow, she teaches them how to survive in the wild. Until one day, fox dies. Her body goes back to earth and grass and air, nourishing the world around her and bringing the forest to life. Death is not just an end, it’s also a beginning.

Fox: A Circle of Life Story answers the big scientific question: What happens when we die?

Isabel Thomas studied Human Sciences at the University of Oxford. She is a science writer and children’s author who has been shortlisted for the Royal Society Young People’s Book Prize, the ASE Science Book of the Year and the Blue Peter Book Awards. She is a primary school governor and STEM Ambassador. Her previous books for Bloomsbury include Moth: An Evolution Story, which was also illustrated by Daniel Egnéus.

Love is in the air in this adorable board book featuring the charming friendship of Bear and Spider—and a special someone.

Bear is excited for his new teapot to arrive. When the doorbell rings, Bear finds something unexpected—a new delivery person, Panda, who happens to be very charming.

Bear does the only thing he can think of—he orders another teapot so he can see Panda again. But he’s too flustered to talk to her . . . so he orders another teapot. And another.

Spider encourages Bear to invite Panda to tea, but one day, a new delivery person arrives at the door. Seeing how devastated his friend is, Spider sets out on a journey to find Panda and help his friend find the courage to be himself.

The fantastic duo from Bear’s Scare and Bear Out There is back in another sweet friendship story that’s perfect for Valentine’s Day.

Bear Out There

Jacob Grant

Bear and Spider are back in another charming odd-couple friendship story, perfect for fans of Peter Brown and Greg Pizzoli.

Spider loves the outdoors—the warm sun, the fresh breeze, the colorful plants. But when his kite gets stuck in a tree, he needs his friend’s help. Bear prefers the indoors, with his cozy chair and warm tea. He does not like the woods, but does like the idea of helping his friend. When their quest to find Spider's kite goes from bad to worse, Bear realizes that being a good friend sometimes means breaking out of your comfort zone.

The fantastic duo from Bear’s Scare is back in another subtly funny friendship story, proving that when the going gets rough, true friends will stick by your side.

Revver the Speedway Squirrel
Sherri Duskey Rinker

From the #1 New York Times bestselling author of Goodnight, Goodnight Construction Site comes an illustrated young MG perfect for fans of Beverly Cleary.

Meet Revver: a little squirrel with big dreams . . . to drive a race car! His siblings don’t understand his need for speed, but Revver doesn’t care. And he certainly doesn’t care about “ordinary” squirrel things like finding food or climbing trees. He spends his days staring at the racetrack below his nest.

When Revver finally gets the chance to head out on his own, becoming part of the race crew is more difficult than he expected. He never learned anything about engines in Squirrel School! But luckily, tire changer Bill has a soft spot for animals. Can Revver prove to Bill that he deserves to be part of the team? Perfect for fans of the classic Ralph S. Who Gives a Poop?

Surprising Science from One End to the Other

Heather L. Montgomery

A unique journalistic exploration of the fascinating and funny science of poop.

Poop is disgusting, but it's also packed with potential. One scientist spent months training a dog to track dung to better understand elephant birthing patterns. Another discovered that mastodon poop years ago is the reason we enjoy pumpkin pie today. And every week, some folks deliver their own poop to medical facilities, where it is swirled, separated, and shipped off to a hospital to be transplanted into another human. There's even a train full of human poop sludge that's stuck without a home in Alabama. This irreverent and engaging book shows that poop isn't just waste-and that dealing with it responsibly is our duty.

The Lemon Tree (Young Readers' Edition)

An Arab, A Jew, and the Heart of the Middle East

Sandy Tolan

A moving introduction to the Israeli-Palestine conflict, adapted from the award-winning adult book.

In 1967, a refugee named Bashir Khairi traveled from the Palestinian hilltown of Ramallah to Ramla, Israel with a goal: to see the house with the lemon tree in its backyard that he and his family had been forced to leave nineteen years earlier. When he arrived, he was greeted by one of its new residents: Dalia Eshkenazi Landau, an Israeli college student whose family had fled Europe following the Holocaust. She had lived in that house since she was eleven months old.

On the stoop of this shared house, Dalia and Bashir began a surprising friendship, forged in the aftermath of war and tested as political tensions ran high and Israelis and Palestinians each asserted their own right to live on this land. Based on Sandy Tolan’s extensive reporting, The Lemon Tree is a deeply personal story of two people seeking hope, transformation, and home.

Birdie's Billions

Edith Cohn

For as long as twelve-year-old Birdie can remember, it's always been just her and her mom, which means there's not lots of extra money around to spend on things like field trip fees and new school clothing and batons from the fancy gymnastics store. Still, they always find a way to make ends meet. Then Birdie makes one silly mistake that has a big consequence: Mom loses her job. Suddenly things are more dire than ever, and Birdie knows it is up to her to fix it. When Birdie discovers a huge stash of cash in an abandoned house, she doesn't think twice about where that cash came from; she just knows it must be the answer to their problems. But the people who left that money behind aren't willing to give it up so easily. Does finders keepers count when it's half a million dollars? Birdie learns how to balance what's right for her family and herself with what's the right thing to do in this heartfelt small-town story.

William Sutcliffe

For fans of John Corey Whaley, a clever coming-of-age story about fitting in and finding your way in an all-too-complicated world.

Fifteen-year-old Sam is not a famous vlogger, he’s never gone viral, and he doesn’t want to be the Next Big Thing. In fact, he’s ordinary and proud of it. None of which was a problem until Dad got rich and Mom made their family move to London.

Now Sam’s off to the North London Academy for the Gifted and Talented, where everyone’s busy planning Hollywood domination or starting alt-metal psychodelica crossover bands. Sam knows he’ll never belong, even if he wanted to—but can he find himself on his own terms?

William Sutcliffe offers a delightful tongue-in-cheek celebration of embracing the average.

William Sutcliffe was born in London, and now lives in Edinburgh. He is the author of the international bestseller Are You Experienced? and Whatever Makes You Happy, inspiration for the Netflix movie Otherhood, as well as The Love Hexagon, New Boy, Bad Influence, and We See Everything. Brigid Kemmerer

From New York Times bestselling author Brigid Kemmerer comes a brand-new blockbuster fantasy series about a kingdom divided by corruption—and the girl who will risk everything to bring the system...

The land of Kandala is recovering from a devastating plague, with a cure so rare that only the wealthy can afford it. Tessa is one of the many in the lower class, whose parents were killed for distributing the cure on the black market. She continues their legacy by stealing supplies to give to those in need, along with help from her partner, the suave and mysterious Weston Lark.

As rumors spread that the cure no longer works, Tessa hatches a dangerous plan to infiltrate the castle and break down the class barriers for good.

Set in a fantasy world startlingly similar to our own, Brigid Kemmerer's new series illuminates the divide between those with power and those without. . . and what happens when someone is brave enough to flip the system.

Never Look Back

Lilliam Rivera

Acclaimed author Lilliam Rivera blends magical realism into a timely story about cultural identity, overcoming trauma, and first love.

Eury comes to the Bronx as a girl haunted—by losing everything in Hurricane Maria and by an evil spirit, Ato, who she fears will find her in New York. Yet, for a time, she can almost set her fear aside, because there’s this boy . . . Pheus is a golden-voiced, bachata-singing charmer, ready to spend the summer on the beach with his friends, serenading a girl or two. When he meets Eury, all he wants is to put a smile on her face and fight off her demons. But some dangers are too powerful for even the strongest love, and as the world threatens to tear them apart, Eury and Pheus must fight for each other and their lives.

Featuring contemporary Afro-Latinx characters, this Own Voices retelling of the Greek myth Orpheus and Eurydice is perfect for fans of Ibi Zoboi’s Pride.

Once More with Chutzpah

Haley Neil

A smart, deeply felt YA debut about a Jewish teen grappling with her identity in the wake of a shocking accident.

When Tally and her twin brother head off on a weeklong exchange trip to Israel, she welcomes the distraction; Max might be trying to hide it, but she knows he’s still struggling after a tragic car crash injured him and killed the driver. Maybe this will help him get back on track and apply to college the way they always planned.

But as the group travels across the country, Tally realizes Max might not be the only one struggling with a major life turning point. Amid spiraling anxiety, new questions about her sexual identity, and a reexamination of where she fits in the country’s history and the wider Jewish diaspora, Tally grapples with even bigger thoughts about what’s next.

Debut author Haley Neil offers a fresh, relatable story about identity on the cusp of adulthood.

Haley Neil is a recent MFA grad from The New School, where she specialized in Writing for Children and Young Adults. She previously obtained her Masters in Education while working full time as a preschool teacher. She loves school, teaching, and going to school to learn about teaching (as well as walking her rescue pup through her Massachusetts town and pretending she's on a home baking show). This is her first book. haleyneil.com • Twitter: @haleyeneil • Instagram: @haleyeneil
Spin Me Right Round

David Valdes

A sharp, funny YA debut that’s Back to the Future with a twist, as a gay teen travels back in time to save a closeted classmate’s life.

All Luis wants is to go to prom with his boyfriend, something his “progressive” school still doesn’t allow. Even in 2021. Not after what happened with Chaz Wilson. But that was ages ago, when Luis’ parents were in high school; it would never happen today. He makes it his mission to stand up for his queer classmates. But when a hit on the head knocks him back in time to 1985 and he meets the doomed young Chaz himself, Luis comes up with a new plan—he’s going to give this guy his first real kiss. But it turns out a conservative school in the 80s isn’t the safest place to be a gay kid. Luis is in over his head, trying not to make things worse . . . and hoping he makes it back to present day at all.

David Valdes offers a funny, heartfelt, and intersectional story about self-discovery across generations.

Cursebreaker Box Set

Brigid Kemmerer

Discover the global phenomenon of the Cursebreaker series in this gorgeous three-book hardcover box set!

Four royals. Two thrones. One deadly curse.

Deep in the heart of Emberfall sits an isolated castle. Inside, Prince Rhen is trapped by a curse; outside, his kingdom falls to ruin.

On the dark streets of Washington D.C., Harper waits, playing lookout for her brother. She’s always been underestimated because of her cerebral palsy, but when she sees someone in danger she runs to help—only to find herself sucked into Rhen’s cursed world.

What begins as a twist on a fairy tale unfolds into a world of magic, danger, love, and betrayal in bestselling author Brigid Kemmerer’s Cursebreaker series.

This box set includes hardcover editions of the entire series: A Curse So Dark and Lonely, A Heart So Fierce and Broken, and A Vow So Fierce and Deadly.
