Weeknight Smoking on Your Traeger and Other Pellet Grills

Incredible Wood-Fired Meals Made Fast and Easy

Adam McKenzie

Smoking and grilling have never been easier with these recipes that take advantage of the hands-off, fast-cooking features of the popular Traeger grill and other wood pellet grills.

The Traeger grill is taking the BBQ world by storm, and here to help backyard grillers make the most of their cookers is Adam McKenzie, creator of the popular recipe site and Instagram account This Jew Can Que with over 200k followers. Adam shares smart and delicious recipes, most of which come together in under an hour using the “hot and fast” cooking method that the Traeger excels at. Even his traditional BBQ recipes cooked “low and slow” are still done in half the time of a traditional smoker, plus Adam simplifies the steps with hardly any maintenance needed during the cook. Readers can now enjoy juicy, tender meats with that craveable smoke flavor even on busy weeknights—a feat that’s nearly impossible with other smokers.

Featured recipes from the book are Colorado-Style Tri-Tip Steak, Beef “Dino” Ribs, Texas-Style Brisket, Pork Shoulder Steaks with Herb Gremolata and Smoked-Fried Chicken Wings. A favorite feature with the Traeger is how effective it is at baking, which Adam showcases in recipes such as Smoked Artichoke Dip and Bourbon Chocolate Pecan Pie. These recipes showcase the best of what Traeger offers: fantastic smoke flavor in a fraction of the time.

This book will have 60 recipes and 60+ photos.

Adam McKenzie is the creator of This Jew Can Que. He has 203k followers on Instagram. He’s collaborated with Traeger Wood Fired Grills, Snake River Farms, Cabot Creamery, Head Country Bar-B-Que and more. Adam lives in Denver, Colorado.

The Everyday Low-FODMAP Diet Cookbook

Easy Recipes to Reduce Discomfort and Soothe Inflammation

Zorah Booley

Gut health is the biggest trend in the wellness community right now, and finding relief from abdominal pain, bloating and other symptoms of IBS is easy and downright delicious with these 60 recip...

Zorah Booley of In the Midnight Kitchen knows that following the low-FODMAP diet doesn’t mean you’re confined to bland foods. When she was diagnosed with IBS, she used her Le Cordon Bleu training to develop a bevy of mouthwatering recipes to heal her discomfort and control her symptoms—and now she’s sharing them with you.

Enjoy favorite flavors and beloved dishes you thought were off-limits, like Country-Style Sticky Ribs or a big bowl of Creamy Alfredo Gnocchi. Or discover new ones, like Peanut Butter Chicken Satay Wraps and Gut-Healing Khao Soi. You can still say yes to spice with Stuffed Gem Squash with Spicy Shiitake Mushrooms or Zesty Lemon and Chili-Infused Shrimp Stir-Fry. Or find comfort and indulgence in Sticky Cinnamon Rolls with Crème Fraiche Frosting, Classic Spanish Style Churros or Gluten-Free Chocolate Chip Cookies.

Zorah takes the guesswork out of the low-FODMAP diet, making it simple for you to manage your symptoms naturally without relying on medications or feeling deprived.
