Healing Ourselves

Biofield Science and the Future of Health

Shamini Jain

A leading researcher of consciousness-based healing provides an invaluable resource of scientific data and self-healing practices.

Spontaneous remission, the placebo effect, and energy healing—these phenomena have baffled the medical community for decades. What do all these marvels tell us? That our body is much more than a machine to be fixed by drugs and surgery. “We’ve been disempowered to think that we have no control over our own healing,” says Dr. Shamini Jain, “and yet science suggests the complete opposite. We have more healing power than we could ever imagine.”

With Healing Ourselves, Dr. Jain presents a new vision of health care that represents the marriage of cutting-edge science with spiritual wisdom, including:

• Biofield science—exploring evidence for the missing link between consciousness and healing
• The future of medicine—how the next scientific evolution will unfold
• Beginning your own health revolution—guidance for harnessing the placebo effect, holistic self-care, evidence-based spiritual practices, and much more

Today more than ever, we realize that we must change the way we think about health care—and our ability to heal ourselves. “The good news is there is a way forward,” teaches Dr. Jain “The flame that lights the path burns brighter than the darkness of ignorance and suffering we have found ourselves in.” With Healing Ourselves, this inspiring teacher shares a whole, integrated model of health that we have known in our hearts, all along, to be true.

Trauma: The Invisible Epidemic

How Trauma Works and How We Can Heal From It

Paul Conti

Join Dr. Paul Conti for a journey toward understanding, active treatment, and societal prevention of trauma.

Imagine, if you will, a disease—one that has only subtle outward symptoms but can hijack your entire body without notice; one that transfers easily between parent and child; one that can last a lifetime if untreated. According to Dr. Paul Conti, this is exactly how society should conceptualize trauma: as an out-of-control epidemic with a potentially fatal prognosis.

In Trauma: The Invisible Epidemic, Dr. Conti examines the most recent research, clinical best practices, and dozens of real-life stories to present a deeper, richer, and more urgent view of trauma. Not only does Dr. Conti explain how trauma affects the body and mind, he also demonstrates that trauma is transmissible among close family and friends, as well as across generations and within vast demographic groups.

With all this in mind, Trauma: The Invisible Epidemic proposes a course of treatment for the seemingly untreatable. Here, Dr. Conti traces a step-by-step series of concrete changes that we can make both as individuals and as a society to alleviate trauma’s effects and prevent further traumatization in the future.

It’s only when we understand how a disease spreads and is sustained that we are able to create its ultimate cure. With Trauma: The Invisible Epidemic, Dr. Conti reveals that what we once considered a lifelong, unbeatable mental illness is both treatable and preventable.

Paul Conti, M.D., is a graduate of Stanford University School of Medicine. He completed his psychiatry training at Stanford and at Harvard, where he was appointed chief resident. He then served on the medical faculty at Harvard before moving to Portland, Oregon, and founding a clinic. Dr. Conti serves patients and clients throughout the United States and internationally, including the executive leadership of large corporations. For more, see pacificpremiergroup.com.

Tammy Nelson

A practical guide for creating non-traditional relationship agreements that work—from a certified sex therapist and relationships expert

Love is eternal—but our concepts of relationships and marriage evolve to fit the times. In an age when we live longer, communicate differently, and value gender equality, is it any wonder so many people are looking for new ways to support lasting, loving partnerships? “Monogamy is no longer a simple concept,” says Dr. Tammy Nelson. “More couples every year are experimenting with open relationships and newer, more flexible versions of commitment . . . yet few of us have been prepared with the skills we need to make those agreements work.”

Open Monogamy is Dr. Nelson’s guidebook for couples who wish to explore new directions in their relationships—to bring in excitement, variety, and fresh experiences without sacrificing trust, security, and respect. In this practical, skill-based book, she helps you find your place on the “monogamy continuum”; have honest conversations about attraction and desire; remove shame and suspicion from an open relationship; and create agreements—traditional or otherwise—that are fulfilling, exhilarating, and built for enduring love.

Dr. Nelson’s 30 years of experience as a relationship and sex therapist have shown her that nontraditional relationships can flourish when the old idea of monogamy fails. Here is an invaluable resource to help couples redefine their relationships with “understanding, empathy, and validation for the new rules of love.”

Timeless Ways to Connect to Land, Lineage, Community, and the Self

Becca Piastrelli

A beautifully illustrated guide for connecting with the earth, your ancestors, and your communities as you come home to your whole self

Most modern women feel more alone than ever. We’re unrooted from the land that is our home, untethered from our long line of ancestors, disconnected from our communities, and separated from our deepest sense of self. According to author Becca Piastrelli, much of this loneliness stems from the ways we’ve lost touch with our ancestral ways of living. “Though we live in a radically different-looking world, the needs of our bodies and spirits are the same as the ancestors we came from,” she writes. “We need community, ritual, and knowledge of the earth. We need to remember who we really are.”

With Root and Ritual, Piastrelli offers women a pathway back to connection and wholeness through recipes, rituals, and a wealth of ancestral wisdom. In this beautifully illustrated guide, she presents a four-part journey for deepening into your life: Part 1 introduces practices for reconnecting with the land, including crafting with plants and tending your home. In Part 2, you’ll learn to reclaim the gifts of your lineage as you heal past harms and explore the traditional folklore, foods, and arts of those who came before. Part 3 centers around community, helping you cultivate sisterhood and celebrate meaningful rites of passage. And in Part 4, you’ll come home to yourself as you open your intuition, tune in to your body, and awaken the wild woman within.

Becca Piastrelli is a writer, speaker, ancestral folk medicine keeper, and women’s group facilitator. She is a leader in women’s empowerment and earth wisdom, teaching women how to cultivate a sense of belonging. Through her online and international retreats, blog, and Belonging podcast, Becca connects with thousands of women from her home in Northern California. For more, visit beccapiastrelli.com.

Anchored

How to Befriend Your Nervous System Using Polyvagal Theory

Deborah Dana

Reduce Stress and Overwhelm Through a Deeper Understanding of Your Nervous System.

We’ve all had experiences where our reactions felt completely out of proportion to the situation. Perhaps a meeting with your boss made you feel like you were in the path of a speeding car. Or it may be that certain relationships in your life felt out of control.

In Anchored, Deb Dana presents a simple, hopeful message: when you ground yourself with openness, mindful attention, and curiosity, you can gain the understanding necessary to reshape these seemingly uncontrollable responses. Dana draws on her considerable experience as a clinician and teacher, her extensive work with Polyvagal Theory, and her long-lasting close collaboration with its founder, Dr. Stephen Porges.

Polyvagal Theory posits that our survival responses are regulated by the vagus nerve (the highway of the nervous system, which sends signals directly from the body to the brain) and can be consciously shaped through exploratory practices that offer a greater sense of safety.

Dana illustrates how to work with the body’s innate ability to pick up social signals and cultivate “micro-moments” of safety in order to regulate automatic responses to stress, conflict, and hardship. Including in-depth practices such as guided imagery, meditation, and ongoing self-inquiry, Anchored offers a practical user’s manual for moving from a place of fear and panic into a grounded space of calm and balance.

Deb Dana, LCSW, is a clinician and teacher specializing in complex trauma, as well as a consultant to the Traumatic Stress Research Consortium in the Kinsey Institute. Deb’s work is focused on using the lens of Polyvagal Theory to understand and resolve the impact of trauma in our lives. For more, see rhythmofregulation.com.

Taking Refuge in the Wild Heart

A Fierce and Tender Wisdom

Mirabai Starr

For centuries, the voices of feminine mystics have been suppressed, their wisdom relegated to the shadows—until now.

“Women’s voices have been buried at the heart of every spiritual tradition, and it is time that we excavate and uplift them for the sake of all beings, including Mother Earth,” offers spiritual guide and author Mirabai Starr. “We are all mystics, and our birthright is union with the One.”

In this six-session audio program, Starr shows us how to collectively reclaim feminine wisdom from the margins of patriarchy in order to embody this living spirit in our daily lives. This, she teaches, is a revolutionary act—one that is wildly creative and meant for everyone.

Each session will include guided practices to evoke insight and inner reflection on the teachings of feminine mystics, including Hildegard of Bingen, Julian of Norwich, and the Bhakti poet Mirabai. Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism, and Hinduism will be referenced through the lens of the feminine as listeners contemplate and activate sacred scriptures and teachings to awaken our hearts, cultivate community, and energize us to step up in compassionate action.

In addition, contemporary spiritual visionaries, writers, and artists such as Naomi Shihab Nye and Lynn Unger will inspire us toward “good trouble” by showing us how to address and dismantle harms done by oppressive religious traditions. Taking Refuge in the Wild Heart sets us on an inclusive, comprehensive path for healing our hearts and returning to the sacred center of us all.

Mirabai Starr is an award-winning author of creative nonfiction and contemporary translations of sacred literature. She taught philosophy and world religions for 20 years and now leads retreats internationally on contemplative practice and inter-spiritual dialogue. A certified bereavement counselor, Mirabai helps mourners harness the transformational power of loss. Her latest book is Wild Mercy. She lives in northern New Mexico. How to Love Others, Our Opponents, and Ourselves

Valarie Kaur

A fiery activist and inspiring visionary offers practical training for becoming a healing force in our divided world.

How can we practice love in a time of turmoil? How do we look upon the face of any person—even someone who has offended, wronged, or harmed us—and choose to love them? “All acts of love begin in wonder,” teaches Valarie Kaur. “When we choose to wonder about another person, we affirm that their interior life is as vast and complex as our own. In other words, we see them as equal.”

By listening deeply to the stories she encountered in her frontline social justice work, then adding insights from her studies in religion, law, ethics, and science, Kaur created the practices that make up The Revolutionary Love Training Course. In this (X)-hour audio training, she shares the insights, teachings, and guided practices that can create the most impact in your life and your community.

The issues we face as a culture—racism, sexism, war, inequality, climate change, and more—are born of our estrangement from ourselves, from others, and from the world. “Pull the thread on any one issue . . . and you get the rest,” Kaur teaches. “It is the old way to fight only for ourselves or single causes. Love calls us to fight with solidarity, side by side.” Here is a powerful and practical course for transforming yourself and the way you relate to everyone in your life—created for anyone who shares the vision of a world in which no one, no matter how different, is left behind.

Valarie Kaur is an activist, lawyer, filmmaker, and founder of the Revolutionary Love Project. She has won national acclaim for her story-based advocacy, helping to win policy change on issues from hate crimes to digital freedom. A daughter of Sikh farmers in California, she earned degrees at Stanford University, Harvard Divinity School, and Yale Law School. Valarie's debut book, See No Stranger, expands on her popular TED Talk. She lives in Venice, California. For more, visit seenostranger.com.
Forgiveness Is Freeing

Teachings to Let Go of Judgments and Conflict

Eckhart Tolle

Learn how to transcend the pain of the past and dwell in a Presence free of resentments.

Do you know of someone in your life who you cannot possibly bring yourself to forgive? When you think of that person, what feelings arise? It’s likely, muses Eckhart Tolle, that none of those sensations are happiness, calm, or contentment.

None of this is unfamiliar to the renowned author and luminary, who has taught on the nature of perception, selfhood, and the roots of negative emotions for more than 20 years. Holding on to old wounds, he reflects, is one of the surest signs that you are caught in the egoic thinking of the false self.

Forgiveness Is Freeing brings together Eckhart’s most potent talks about what it means to let go of grievances and fully accept the shape of your past. Through insightful lectures and practices, he shows us how to cultivate nonjudgment and equanimity when others overstep your boundaries, why the worst grudges are the ones we hold against ourselves, and what to do when the pain of our past wounds hijacks our senses.

You don’t have to be bound by the illusions of the past, teaches Eckhart. In these essential audio sessions, he shows us the way to letting go and embracing the liberation of the present moment.

Eckhart Tolle is a world-renowned spiritual teacher and bestselling author in print and on audio. His written works include two New York Times bestsellers: the Oprah’s Book Club selection A New Earth and The Power of Now, which has been translated into over 30 languages. Sensing into Presence

A Collection of Guided Practices with Kim Eng

Kim Eng

Kim Eng offers the best of her practices for embodied awakening in this comprehensive audio program.

When we seek to connect with the present moment, many of us end up going into our thoughts—and disconnecting from our bodies. Kim Eng teaches a different approach. Her practices all nourish an exquisite sense of inner harmony—through movement and stillness, doing and allowing, mind and body, all working together to awaken us to the realization of our inherent wholeness. Now, with Sensing into Presence, this renowned teacher presents a compilation of her most effective meditations for bringing your whole self into a state of graceful Presence.

This collection assembles Kim’s best-loved practices from the Eckhart Tolle Now online community, grouped into three distinct sessions: “Breathing and Being” meditations focus on accessing relaxation and awareness through the gateway of the breath. “Deepening into Stillness of the Body” reveals the wisdom, strength, and beauty of your living form through gentle movement and focus. Finally, “Moving with Awareness and the Energy of Qi” brings you practices to help you awaken to and nourish your physical and subtle anatomy, granting you access to deep reserves of creativity, power, and insight.

“The present moment is an embodied realization,” Kim Eng says. Here is an opportunity to experience this remarkable teacher’s gift for helping you awaken your mind, body, and spirit with Sensing into Presence.

Kim Eng is a counselor and spiritual teacher whose Presence Through Movement workshops focus on the integration of mind, body, and spirit. As Eckhart Tolle’s teaching partner, she has helped translate his ideas into a structured practice. Her teaching programs include Meditations for a New Earth, Guided Meditations for Deepening Stillness, and the Presence Through Movement video series. For more, visit presencethroughmovement.com.
The Biology of Belief

Unleashing the Power of Consciousness, Matter and Miracles

Bruce H. Lipton

Learn how your biology is shaped by the intelligence of each of your fifty trillion cells.

The Biology of Belief is a groundbreaking work in the field of new biology. Former medical school professor and research scientist Bruce H. Lipton, Ph.D., presents his experiments, and those of other leading-edge scientists, which examine in great detail the mechanisms by which cells receive and process information.

The implications of this research radically change our understanding of life, showing that genes and DNA do not control our biology; instead, DNA is controlled by signals from outside the cell, including the energetic messages emanating from our positive and negative thoughts.

This profoundly hopeful synthesis of the latest and best research in cell biology and quantum physics has been hailed as a major breakthrough, showing that our bodies can be changed as we retrain our thinking.

Bruce H. Lipton, PhD, is an internationally recognized cellular biologist who taught cell biology at the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and later performed pioneering studies at Stanford University's School of Medicine. His breakthrough research on the cell membrane in 1977 made him a pioneer in the new science of epigenetics. He is author of The Biology of Belief and a sought-after keynote speaker and workshop presenter, and has appeared on radio and television.
No Bad Parts

How the Internal Family Systems Model Changes Everything

Richard Schwarz

Learn the innovative therapeutic model that is revolutionizing the field of trauma healing and helping people realize their most potent and empowered inner self.

Inside each of us, there are many distinct selves. “Though we’ve been raised to believe that healthy people have a single ‘self,’” explains Dr. Richard C. Schwartz, “acknowledging our multiplicity gives a far deeper awareness of how our minds actually work.” Dr. Schwartz’s pioneering Internal Family Systems (IFS) therapy has become renowned in psychotherapy for its power to help us connect with and heal the many distinct facets—or parts—of our psyche. With Greater Than the Sum of Our Parts, he brings you practical ways to use this method for your growth, well-being, and even your spiritual journey.

One of the key lessons of IFS therapy is that there are no bad parts. “Trauma or life experience can cause our parts to take on burdens,” says Dr. Schwartz. “Yet when we bring the spiritual values of curiosity, gratitude, and kindness to these burdened parts, we discover incredible opportunities for healing and awakening.” Through instruction and guided meditations, Dr. Schwartz shows us how to engage even the most disturbing or unwanted parts of our psyche with openness and love—so we may unlock the hidden gifts and wisdom each part contains.

Many forms of therapy and even spiritual practice inadvertently put us in conflict with ourselves as we try to transcend or reject our parts. Here Dr. Schwartz invites you to embrace each of your many parts with self-compassion—and discover the inclusive greater Self that is your true nature.

Richard C. Schwartz, PhD is the creator of Internal Family Systems, a highly effective therapeutic model that de-pathologizes the multi-part self. His Center for Self Leadership offers training in IFS for professionals and the general public. Formerly an associate professor in the Department of Psychiatry at the University of Illinois at Chicago and later at Northwestern University, Dr. Schwartz has published five books and is a sought-after presenter.
