Whistleblower

Kate Marchant

Fresh contemporary new adult fiction--with #metoo at its heart.

When Laurel Cates uncovers a shocking story about Garland's football coach, it takes all of her courage to publish the story in the school's paper. And when it reverberates around the country, the ramifications are both personal and professional. But nowhere are the repercussions stronger than in Laurel's everyday life as she can't seem to avoid Bodie St. James, the star quarterback, whose own career now hangs on the brink as a result of her article...

Kate Marchant started writing on Wattpad when she was fifteen years old. Today, she's a proud member of the Wattpad Futures program and holds a bachelor's in creative writing from the University of Southern California. She lives in the San Francisco Bay Area and has been everything from an editorial intern at an online dictionary to copywriter at a startup. Whistleblower is her debut novel.

The Summer I Drowned

Taylor Hale

The past always resurfaces

The Summer I Drowned is a young adult domestic noir where a 17-year-old girl returns to her seaside hometown the summer before her final year of school to find closure a...

Five years after almost drowning, Olivia Cathart returns home to Caldwell Beach determined to face her fears and take some risks—not just by swimming, but by opening her heart. Hoping to rekindle her friendships, she’s excited about a carefree summer with her best friends Keely and Miles. But life in the sleepy town has changed, and no one and nothing is as it seems.

When a series of startling crimes threaten Olivia’s fragile state, she is plunged into a terrifying game of cat and mouse. Her only solace from the chaos is West, Miles’s disowned and ruggedly handsome brother, but even he can’t answer the question on everyone’s minds—is Olivia really in danger or is it simply all in her head?

Taylor Hale was born in Southwestern Ontario, and started writing on Wattpad in 2015. When she isn’t writing, she can be found bartending at a live music venue, and thinking up her next idea. The Summer I Drowned is her first novel.

Night Owls and Summer Skies

Rebecca Sullivan

When Emma Lane finds herself unexpectedly dropped off at camp, she dreads a summer spent in the wild outdoors, until she meets the cool, confident Vivian Black, setting off an enemies-to-lovers r...

When her mother unceremoniously dumps her at Camp Mapplewood for the summer, Emma Lane's hopes of repairing their fractured relationship are gone with the wind. Now she's stuck in the wilderness facing her worst fears. Trees? Terrifying. Spiders? Even worse. And don't even get Emma started on how she feels about camp activities. But Emma's got a plan, and she will do anything in her power to get kicked out of camp, from sleeping in to playing practical jokes on her fellow campers. Yet when Emma draws the attention of her illusive and attractive camp counselor Vivian Black, she has to come to terms with the fact that how her summer starts isn't necessarily how it might end. Will Vivian be the key to unlocking Emma's fears once and for all?

Rebecca Sullivan is a twenty-two-year-old student at the National University of Ireland, studying English Literature and Geography. She is obsessed with fluffy socks and anything to do with owls, particularly in the form of candles and other odd trinkets. Even when sleeping there's no escape from writing for Rebecca as she plans story arcs by inducing a lucid dreaming state.

A.J. Rosen

Greek mythology reimagined with the vigor of The Hunger Games, A. J. Rosen’s epic tale follows a young woman who is faced with deciding between her heart and her destiny in the days leading up to...

For Greek god descendant Avery Montgomery, turning eighteen is a big deal. Not only is it her ticket to the Court, the world’s most lavish party for descendants, it also unlocks the ability to hear a “click” with her one true soul mate. As her eighteenth birthday looms, Avery finds herself drawn to two royal descendants who couldn’t be more different—from each other, and from Avery herself—as she stumbles upon a dark side of the Court, which pushes her towards a revelation that will forever alter her past, and her future.

A.J. Rosen is a twenty-three-year-old Wattpad Ambassador who splits her time between full-time school and writing YA romance. She’s the founder of online movements like #ilovemyflaws (which supports victims of bullying) and #CareforCancer (which supports the loved ones of those battling cancer). She currently lives and studies in Singapore. Entwined is her first novel.

The Invincible Summer of Juniper Jones

Daven McQueen

Daven McQueen's Juniper Jones is a character for all ages in this sweet coming of age story set in 1950s Alabama.

It's the summer of 1955. For Ethan Harper, a biracial kid raised mostly by his white father, race has always been a distant conversation. When he's sent to spend the summer with his aunt and uncle in small-town Alabama, his Blackness is suddenly front and center, and no one is shy about making it known he's not welcome there. Except for Juniper Jones. The town's resident oddball and free spirit, she's everything the townspeople aren't—open, kind, and full of acceptance.

Armed with two bikes and an unlimited supply of root beer floats, Ethan and Juniper set out to find their place in a town that's bent on rejecting them. As Ethan is confronted for the first time by what it means to be Black in America, Juniper tries to help him see the beauty in even the ugliest reality, and that even the darkest days can give rise to an invincible summer.

Daven McQueen grew up outside of Los Angeles, California, and graduated from Brown University, where she earned a BA in literary arts and economics. Her works on Wattpad include December, Beautiful Dreamer, and Superior, which received a Watty Award for Science Fiction. When she's not writing, Daven can be found tap dancing, embroidering, cooking, and eating dessert. She currently lives in Boston, Massachusetts, with her cat, and works in education.
