Dating Makes Perfect

Pintip Dunn

A compelling and necessary #OwnVoices romantic comedy all about dating while navigating overbearing parents, from NY Times bestselling author Pintip Dunn.

The Tech sisters don't date in high school. Not because they're not asked. Not because they're not interested. Not even because no one can pronounce their long, Thai last name—hence the shortened, awkward moniker. But simply because they're not allowed.

Until now.

In a move that other Asian American girls know all too well, six months after the older Tech twins got to college, their parents asked, “Why aren't you engaged yet?” The sisters retaliated by vowing that they won't marry for ten (maybe even twenty!) years, not until they've had lots of dating practice.

In a shocking war on the status quo, her parents now insist that their youngest daughter, Orrawin (aka “Winnie”), must date in high school. Under their watchful eyes, of course — and on dates they organize based on their favorite rom-coms. The first candidate? The son of their longtime friends, Mat Songsomboon—arrogant, dreamy, and infuriating.

Winnie's known him since they were toddlers throwing sticky rice balls at each other. Her parents love him, so naturally he's the perfect person for her to pretend date.

If only he weren't her sworn enemy.

PRAISE

*“A pulse-pounding, big-stake romance that warms your heart. Malice belongs on the keeper shelf.” — C.C. Hunter, New York Times bestselling author on *Malice

*“With cleverly written characters, an intriguing world, and heart-wrenching conflicts, Pintip Dunn delights with her exciting science fiction novel. Readers who love tough choices and high stakes will love Star-Crossed.” — Jodi Meadows, New York Times bestselling author on *Star-Crossed

*“Pintip Dunn has a new fan in me! Forget Tomorrow offers a dark vision of the future that held me captive.” - Nalini Singh, New York Times bestselling author on *Forget Tomorrow

Pintip Dunn is a New York Times bestselling author of young adult fiction. She graduated from Harvard University, magna cum laude, with an A.B., and received her J.D. at Yale Law School. Escaping Eleven

Jerri Chisholm

Two teens must work together to fight a tyrannical government that has divided society into classes living underground, in a heart-pounding apocalyptic novel perfect for fans of Divergent.

Four generations ago, Earth was rendered uninhabitable, the sun too hot, the land too barren. Those who survived were forced underground, where civilization divided into compounds. In Compound Eleven, only the cruel survive. Fighting is entertainment, violence is a way of life, and hierarchy is everything. For the Primes who inhabit the fifth floor, life is comfortable. For the Means and Grounders on the floors below, it is anything but. Sixteen-year-old hobby fighter Else Hamilton may have been born on the second floor, but she was born to survive.

Except she doesn't want to survive compound life. She wants to be released above ground, to feel fresh air against her skin, to taste true freedom, even if the price is certain death. But the government has a stranglehold over who is even allowed to view the outside world. One Prime, Wren Edelman, is as unhappy in Compound Eleven as Else, despite his privileged status. Yet as determined as Else is to taste freedom, he is determined to make her stay—because despite the fact that romances between upper and lower floors are all but nonexistent, Wren and Else are proving the first of their kind in more ways than one.

Jerri Chisholm is a YA author, a distance runner, and a chocolate addict. Her childhood was spent largely in solitude with only her imagination and a pet parrot for company. Following that she completed a master's degree in public policy and then became a lawyer, but ultimately decided to focus exclusively on the more imaginative and avian-friendly pursuit of writing. She lives with her husband and three children, but, alas, no parrot in Toronto, Canada. www.jerrichisholm.com

Sick Kids In Love

Hannah Moskowitz

Fan favorite Hannah Moskowitz brings a snarky-yet-heartwarming take to the “sick lit” genre with her Entangled debut. Spoiler alert: they don’t die in this one.

Isabel has one rule: no dating.

All the women in her family are heartbreakers, and she’s destined to become one, too, if she’s not careful. But when she goes to the hospital for her RA infusion, she meets a gorgeous, foul-mouthed boy who has her rethinking the no-dating rule and ready to risk everything.

Aleksander is chronically ill, too, and there’s a softer side underneath all his jokes. Isabel finds herself unraveling the secrets of a real person, rather than crowd-sourcing her decisions through her online column Sick Girl Wants to Know.

They fall for each other hard and fast, but Isabel has known all along they were headed for disaster. When a devastating family secret threatens their love, can she find the strength to claim a brave new life with Aleksander, or will she retreat to the safety she’s always depended on and break his heart?

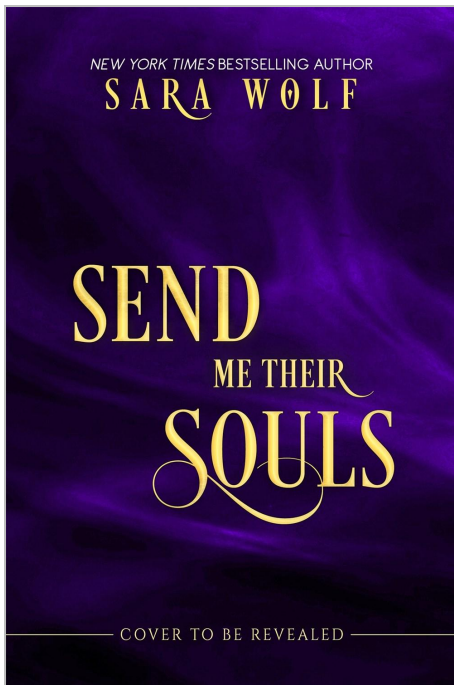

PRAISE

“The excellent character development lends depth and sweetness to the romance... A highly recommended work that’s thoughtful, funny, wise, and tender.” —Kirkus Reviews, starred review

“Sick Kids in Love takes on serious issues in an original, thoughtful way. Isabel and Sasha are vivid, warm, complex characters, and I fell in love with them both.” —Jaelyn Moriarty, author of Gravity Is the Thing

“Romantic, refreshing, and brimming with empathy. Isabel and Sasha captured my heart.” —Rachel Lynn Solomon, author of You’ll Miss Me When I’m Gone and Our Year of Maybe

Hannah Moskowitz wrote her first story, about a kitten named Lilly on the run from cat hunters, for a contest when she was seven years old. It was disqualified for violence. Her first book, BREAK, was on the ALA’s 2010 list of Popular Paperbacks for Young Adults, and in 2013, GONE, GONE, GONE received a Stonewall Honor. 2015’s NOT OTHERWISE SPECIFIED was named the YA Bisexual Book of the Year. She lives in Maryland with several cats, none of whom are violent. hannahmosk.blogspot.com/

Send Me Their Souls

Sara Wolf

The finale to the epic Bring Me Their Hearts series reaches its thrilling conclusion, full of intrigue, emotion, and of course romance.

Reunited with Lucien, Malachite, and Fione, Zera finally has the choice of whether or not to regain her humanity and give up her life as a Heartless. But with war raging and an army of valkerax on the loose, she's never needed immortality more. Will they be able to stop Varia without sacrificing themselves in the process?

PRAISE

Find Me Their Bones

Sara Wolf

Fast-paced, endlessly romantic, and answering fans' questions while posing exciting new ones, the sequel to Sara Wolf's Bring Me Their Hearts is a tour de force.

No one can save her.

In order to protect Prince Lucien d'Malvane's heart, Zera had to betray him. Now, he hates her. Trapped in a tower as a prisoner of the king, she awaits the inevitable moment her witch severs their magical connection and kills her.

Or so she thinks.

With freedom coming from the most unlikely of sources, Zera is given a second chance at life as a Heartless. But it comes with a price. As the king mobilizes his army to march against the witches, Zera must sway the elusive valkerax underneath the city to her cause.

Winning over a thousand bloodthirsty valkerax? Hard. Winning back her friends before war breaks out? A little harder.

But a Heartless winning back Lucien's heart?

The hardest thing she's ever done.

A Curse of Roses

Diana Pinguicha

This #OwnVoices debut has a little bit of everything—romance, politics, magic—and fills a need in the current market for diverse stories written in an authentic and compelling way.

17-year-old Yzabel of Aragon is engaged to the young King of Portugal, and under her touch, food turns into flowers...

With the populace starving, and barely surviving herself, Yzabel doesn't only need to end her curse—she must reverse it somehow. Turn flowers into food. Desperate, she sets to find Fatyan, an immortal rumored to live nearby, but she is imprisoned by an old enchantment. So they must strike a bargain: Fatyan will teach Yzabel how to master her magic, and Yzabel making a deal with Fatyan will release the magical bonds holding her captive.

As she learns to control her power under Fatyan's guidance, they grow closer in a way Yzabel has never felt for her betrothed. But she must keep this part of their relationship secret, or else lose her claim to the throne. If Yzabel is forced to leave Portugal, shamed for loving another woman, the people she was determined to save will surely die.

Born and raised in the sunny land of Portugal, Diana lives in Lisbon, where she works as a game developer and writer. In her free time, she can be found writing (obviously), painting, and devouring extraordinary quantities of books and video games—especially anything on the fantasy spectrum. Keeping her company are two awesome kitties, Sushi and Jubas, and her bearded dragon Norbert.

Follow Me Darkly

Helen Hardt

#1 NY Times bestselling author Helen Hardt's scintillating new series is a deliciously sexy, modern erotic romance about public personas and the secrets we keep buried beneath the surface.

Skye Manning has been a control freak all her life. But there's something about Braden Black that makes her want to give up control.

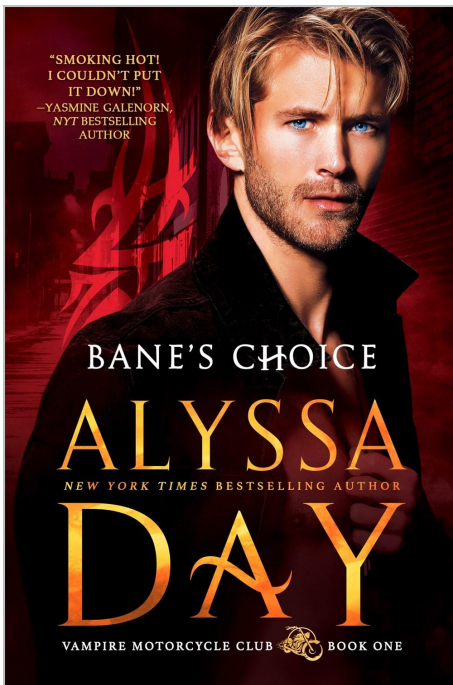

Working for a hotel heiress and social media influencer may not be her dream job, but at least it allows her to do what she really loves—taking photographs. Plus, she's making contacts that might help grow her own brand on social media. Pretty good for a wholesome farm girl from Kansas trying to make it in Boston.

Until blue-collar billionaire Braden Black strides into the office and everyone holds their breath. He's beyond handsome and sexy—but also domineering with a definite hard edge. Skye has no idea why he's interested in her, but within a few weeks, she's Braden Black's girlfriend, making better contacts than she ever did at her job.

But Braden Black is not what he seems, her boss warns her. He's dark and dangerous, and Skye should stay away.

Except she can't. Braden opened up a side of her she can only face in the dark... that has become an obsession. How can she give up something this addictive—even if his secrets could destroy her?

#1 New York Times, #1 USA Today, and #1 Wall Street Journal bestselling author Helen Hardt's passion for the written word began with the books her mother read to her at bedtime. In addition to being an award-winning author of romantic fiction, she's a mother, an attorney, a black belt in Taekwondo, a grammar geek, an appreciator of fine red wine, and a lover of Ben and Jerry's ice cream. She writes from her home in Colorado, where she lives with her family. Helen loves to hear from reader...

Bane's Choice

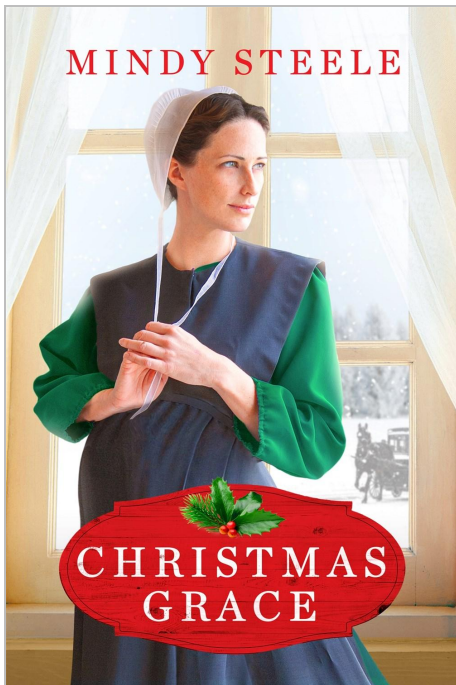

Alyssa Day

Sons of Anarchy* meets True Blood in a new paranormal series from New York Times bestselling author Alyssa Day

The most powerful vampire alive, Bane learned a few things in his more than three hundred years: the Nephilim want to kill him, the team he has assembled are the greatest fighters alive, and the best place to hide the truth is in plain sight. Thus, the Vampire Motorcycle Club was formed. But when the VMC's only human friend almost dies, a beautiful doctor threatens Bane's long-cherished isolation ... and his control.

Dr. Ryan Sinclair always tries to believe six impossible things before breakfast, but a career in medicine often challenges her ability to hope. But the night an intensely powerful stranger somehow compels her to stop protecting her patient—and then disappears—his parting words that he's coming for her feel like a promise ... or a threat. When Ryan gets pulled deeper into the world of the night, she discovers secrets that could destroy the world—and a passion that could destroy her heart.

Alyssa Day is the New York Times and USA Today bestselling author of more than forty novels filled with kissing, laughter, mystery and magic. Alyssa's paranormal series include the Poseidon's Warriors and Cardinal Witches paranormal romances and the Tiger's Eye Mysteries paranormal mysteries. In an Alyssa Day book, the good guys (and gals!) always win and happily ever after always prevails! alyssaday.com

Christmas Grace

Mindy Steele

A pregnant Amish woman discovers the true meaning of Christmas in this inspirational, heartwarming debut.

Grace Miller has a secret. And when that secret can no longer be hidden, she finds herself estranged from her family and the people she has known all her life, sent away from her community to hide her shame and live through the holidays in a rundown mountainside shack in Walnut Ridge, Kentucky.

Under the watchful eye of her intolerable aunt, Grace finds a community unwilling to ignore the baby growing inside her. But surprisingly, the Amish women become her second family. And then there's the local blacksmith, Cullen Graber, who seems to have made a project out of her. Only Grace turns out to be more than just a fragile woman in need of protecting. She is plenty strong enough to defend herself and her unborn child.

With Christmas and her due date looming, Grace discovers she will be forced to marry a man she doesn't love. As the community's secrets slowly unravel, so do Grace's feelings for Cullen. In the cusp of a winter storm, second chances are possible. But can Christmas come early for two neighbors who are in desperate need of God's grace?

Born in the hollers and gorges of beautiful Kentucky, Mindy Steele grew up a closet poet and writer. With the growing Amish community around her, she has found their strong faith and family ties an inspiration that encouraged her to put words to her pages. When not willing her world into another story, she can be found baking for grandbabies, hiking the rich countryside she calls home, or simply working in her garden. mindysteeleauthor.wordpress.com

Tangled Up in You

Liz Maverick

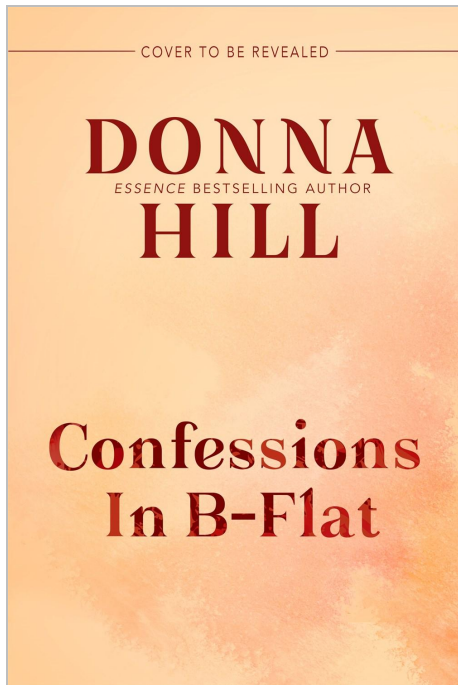

Two charming characters, a lot of dogs, and true love collide in this smart, funny, and heartwarming new series from bestselling, award-winning author Liz Maverick.

Helen “Nellie” Standish is upbeat, quirky, and 100 percent opposed to change. But this holiday season, things are different. Last Christmas, it was a simple tree, eggnog with an elderly neighbor, and an early bedtime. This year, two newly inherited dogs, an ignored eviction notice, and the sexiest stranger ever to set foot in a dog park are about to turn the holiday on its head.

Driven and charming, hotel executive Ryker Griggs never looks back. Change is his only constant, and this blue-collar billionaire built his fortune from scratch, taking every chance along the way. The only things he has from his unenviable past are his aging spaniel, Crosby, and as of last week, a block of vintage Chicago apartments—nicknamed Dogtown Abbey due to the sheer number of pups living there—that his estranged father used to own. The sooner he can rid himself of the tenants, the sooner he can cut ties with his past and move on with his life.

Thanks to a bad case of mistaken identity, Ryker and Nellie don’t realize right away that they—as Dogtown landlord and tenant—are entirely at odds. When Ryker finally realizes that the warm, funny, enchanting woman he’s fallen for at the dog park intends to thwart his Dogtown plans, he’s going to need a true Christmas miracle to let love take the lead.

Bestselling, award-winning author Liz Maverick is a novelist and adventurer whose projects have taken her from driving trucks in Antarctica to working behind the scenes on reality TV shows in Hollywood. She has written more than fifteen books and is a RITA Award finalist. When Liz isn’t writing she’s taking pictures of weird stuff in Brooklyn, NY. Visit her at www.lizmaverick.com.

Confessions in B Flat

Donna Hill

A multi-media retelling of Romeo and Juliet set during the 1964 Civil Rights movement from an Essence bestselling author who lived through it.

Jason Tanner, protégé of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has been by his mentor's side in New York to spread the message of passive resistance. In Harlem, the epicenter of black culture, poet Anita Hopkins tries to capture the message of Malcolm X, which she believes with all her heart: the time is now. Enough is enough.

When Jason goes to the iconic B Flat lounge and sees Anita perform, he's transfixed. Her passion for what she believes runs as deep as his. And Anita has never met anyone who can match her wit for wit like this. Their scorching desire for each other clashes with their fundamentally opposed beliefs... until in a cruel twist of fate Jason is drafted for Vietnam.

With the country at a breaking point and their romance caught in the center, both Anita and Jason are going to have to redefine heart, home, and what they truly desire.

Donna Hill has published more than seventy books spanning a long career. She is an Essence bestselling author and recipient of multiple awards, such as: The RT Career Achievement Award, the Gold Pen Award, The Trailblazer Award, and the Zora Neale Hurston Literary Award. She is currently in a PhD program but received her MFAW in Creative Writing from Goddard College. She is a proud single mother and grandmother who gives back to the community and is known as a pioneer of black romance novels.

The Rakehell of Roth

Amalie Howard

Sleeping Beauty* meets As You Like It in this continuation of award-winning author Amalie Howard's buzzed-about Regency series.

Lord Winter Vance, the Marquess of Roth, does not want a wife, especially a starry-eyed debutante, which is why the minute they're wed, he dumps her at his country estate and hies off to London.

Despite her hasty marriage, Lady Isobel Vance is determined to make the best of it. But three years later, forgotten in slumbering Chelmsford while her husband gallivants in London, enough is enough.

It's time to wake up and show her husband just who he married. But when Isobel is mistaken for a stablehand, what begins as a dance of seduction in ballrooms becomes a meeting of minds in disguise, and strange capers might lead to true love after all.

Her Wicked Marquess

Stacy Reid

Eloisa James meets Sarah MacLean in this fresh, fun take on women rising up and taking what's theirs.

Miss Maryann FitzWilliam is too witty and bookish for her own good. No gentleman of the ton will marry her, so her parents arrange for her to wed a man old enough to be her father. But Maryann is ready to use those wits to turn herself into a sinful wallflower.

When the scandal sheet reports a sighting of Nicolas Ives climbing out the chamber windows of a house party, Maryann does the unthinkable. She anonymously claims that the bedchamber belonged to none other than Miss FitzWilliam, tarnishing her own reputation—and chances of the dastardly union her family secured for her. Now she just needs to convince the marquess to keep his silence.

Nicholas Ives inherited his father's fortune, title, and enemies, along with the secret that ripped his family apart years ago. Driven by the dark need for retribution, he's cultivated a reputation as the most ruthless, unprincipled libertine. Nothing must be allowed to derail his plans.

Until a known wallflower claims to have been seduced by him. Despite his intrigue, as scandal and speculation roar through society of their attachment, Nicolas is determined to ignore the deceitful and enticing Miss FitzWilliam. However, his enemies are drawing close, and he soon discovers he must keep Miss FitzWilliam closer to protect her. Nonetheless, she rouses a soul-burning passion within him, causing him to question who will protect her from his devilish wiles.

Stacy is an avid reader of novels with a deep passion for writing. She especially loves romance and adores writing about people falling in love. Stacy lives a lot in the worlds she creates and actively speaks to her characters (out loud). She has a warrior way, never give up on her dreams. When Stacy is not writing, she spends a copious amount of time drooling over Rick Grimes from The Walking Dead, watching Japanese anime, and playing video games with her love, Dusean Nelson.

The Duplicate Bride

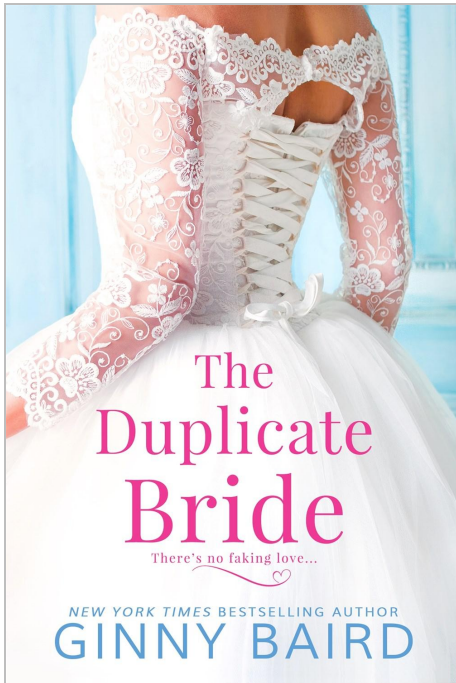

Ginny Baird

Fans of Debbie Macomber and Susan Mallery will fall in love with NYT bestselling author Ginny Baird's hilarious and unique take on weddings.

Hotel magnate Brent Albright is poised to marry a woman he's not totally wild about purely for business reasons. His betrothed, busy wedding planner Jackie Webb, has an equally impersonal agenda. But when the wedding week arrives, Brent's surprised to learn that his brassy bride-to-be has an addictively warm, soft, and funny side. She not only charms his family, his fiancée captures his heart in a way he never thought possible. Suddenly marriage sounds a whole lot better...

Hope Webb has spent her entire life getting her twin sister Jackie out of fixes, and now Jackie's in the biggest fix of all. She can't eke out enough time to attend her own pre-wedding parties in beautiful Blue Hill, Maine. What starts out as a favor to impersonate the bride-to-be for one event turns into an all-week affair...and saying "I do." Hope has helplessly fallen for the groom, and he's fallen for her, but when the ruse inevitably unravels, she'll lose the marriage—and the man—she's always wanted.

New York Times and USA Today bestselling author Ginny Baird writes heartwarming contemporary romance. She's published more than twenty-five novels and novellas, both independently and with traditional publishers, and is a member of Romance Writers of America and Novelists, Inc. When she's not writing, Ginny enjoys cooking, biking, and taking long walks in the woods with her Labrador retriever. She lives with her own personal hero in Virginia, where the couple has created a welcoming nest f...

At Entangled Publishing, we believe authors who write great books should receive a majority of the profits. We also believe authors interested in the lucrative indie publishing model shouldn't have to sacrifice quality editing, commercial covers, or the power of a New York-style marketing machine. That's where we come in. Founded by industry-savvy authors, Entangled Publishing utilizes a bold new business model to bridge the gap between traditional and indie publishing, giving our authors the best of both worlds. We implement the agency model across all departments at Entangled, which means everyone from the copy editor to the marketing director has a financial stake in your book. In other words, we don't make money unless you make money.
