An intriguing look at the archaeology of an imaginary city, from ancient to modern times, featuring fascinating cross-sections

Peter Kent's brilliant cross-sections show how an early settlement changes into a bustling, modern-day city. The lively and friendly illustrations are packed with absorbing and eye-opening details, and clearly show how new buildings are constructed on the rubble of the old. Eagle-eyed readers will have hours of fun spotting the descendants of one particular family through the centuries, and seeing how once-grand buildings become buried and how some structures remain through the centuries. The book reveals the prehistoric origins of the settlement, its 21st-century development and even give a glimpse into the far future, when ice sheets threaten to overwhelm the city.

Author and illustrator Peter Kent has been producing books for children and adults for almost 30 years. His first book was a serious work of history: Fortifications of East Anglia, which is still in print today. He has written and illustrated 19 children's books, and illustrated over 130 other children's books. Peter thinks he has produced more than 12,000 individual artworks for his children's books. As well as working as an author/illustrator, Peter still finds time for teaching and lecturing.

Join Milly-Molly-Mandy and her friends for even more of their everyday adventures!

Following on from The Milly-Molly-Mandy Storybook, this omnibus edition reunites Milly-Molly-Mandy, Billy Blunt, and little-friend-Susan in twenty fun-filled adventures. Perfect for reading aloud, for older children to read by themselves, or as a story before bedtime, these timeless tales have a refreshing innocence and will help keep alive a child's sense of wonder and belief in the simple pleasures of life.

Gloriously illustrated with the author's original line drawings, and now with added colour, More Milly-Molly-Mandy Stories is a truly special gift to treasure.

Joyce Lankester Brisley was born in 1896, U.K., and studied at the Lambeth School of Art. The first Milly-Molly-Mandy stories were published in 1925 in The Christian Science Monitor, and a first collection of these stories was published in book form in 1928. An accomplished artist as well as a writer, Joyce Lankester Brisley designed posters and book jackets and also illustrated the work of other authors. She died in 1978, but Milly-Molly-Mandy's popularity lives on.

A colorful and playful introduction to animals, environments, and geography for young children

Beautifully illustrated by children's artist Anthony Lewis, with lively age-appropriate text, this first atlas explains where animals come from and how they live in their habitats. An adorable penguin-shaped bookmark takes readers on a journey around the globe, helping them identify animals in an absorbing look-and-find game. In addition to the colorful maps showing the world's continents, superb full-page illustrations take readers deeper into the different habitats to provide an early introduction to the basics of ecosystems. This atlas will delight young children and is the perfect reference book for both home and school.

Deborah Chancellor trained as an elementary school teacher before becoming an editor of children's books. She has written more than 30 books for children, including Maps and Mapping and Planet Earth in Kingfisher's Discover Science series and Weather in their Explorers series.

An engaging first art book that introduces young children to the joys of looking at, and understanding, works of art—a follow-up title to Who's in the Picture?

This simple, engaging introduction to art combines superb reproductions of an imaginative selection of artworks by artists ranging from Rousseau and Seurat to Lowry and Van Gogh. With beautifully pitched text supported by friendly cartoon-style illustrations, What's in the Picture? invites young children to search for particular objects or other detail in the paintings displayed. Further questions encourage children to examine each artwork and to explain, very simply, what is happening in the pictures.

Susie Brooks has a first-class history of art degree and has worked as an editor and writer of children's non-fiction and picture books for over ten years. She is the creator of the award-winning Get into Art: Animals book and its three companion titles People, Places, Telling Stories, and of Who's in the Picture? She is an artist herself and runs art workshops for young children. She lives in Edinburgh, Scotland.

Imagine you were there as the first pilgrims from England arrived onboard the Mayflower. Celebrate the 400th anniversary of this sailing, and America's first immigrants, by reading about the people and events that led up to this historic milestone.

The Imagine You Were There... series celebrates events that changed the world and the people who made them happen. November 2019 sees the 400th anniversary of the arrival of the Mayflower, with its cargo of pilgrim families, on the shores of Massachusetts. Sailing on the Mayflower celebrates this milestone by helping readers imagine what it was like to actually be there. Fully illustrated, the book charts the voyage of the pilgrims from England via Holland, and chronicles their arrival in America and the founding of the Plymouth Colony. The book includes first-hand accounts of the voyage and early settler life, with the difficulties it brought. It also looks at the experiences of settlers in other parts of the world, and at some of the same issues that are relevant to modern-day immigrants.

Caryn Jenner writes and edits a variety of books for children of all ages, including both fiction and nonfiction. Her picture book, Starting School, was one of the eight books longlisted for the UK's 2012 School Library Association Information Book Award in the Under 7 age group. Caryn also teaches English to speakers of other languages and volunteers at a local school. She grew up in the United States but has made her home in the UK for many years.
