War has come to the Witchlands . . . and nothing will be the same again.

Iseult has found her heartsister Safi at last, but their reunion is brief. For Iseult to stay alive, she must flee Cartorra while Safi remains. And though Iseult has plans to save her friend, they will require her to summon magic more dangerous than anything she has ever faced before.

Meanwhile, the Bloodwitch Aeduan is beset by forces he cannot understand. And Vivia—rightful queen of Nubrevna—finds herself without a crown or home.

As villains from legend reawaken across the Witchlands, only the mythical Cahr Awen can stop the gathering war. Iseult could embrace this power and heal the land, but first she must choose on which side of the shadows her destiny will lie.

The Good Luck Girls

Charlotte Nicole Davis

A blockbuster fantasy debut set in an alternate Wild West that's "perfect for fans of Leigh Bardugo's Six of Crows and Margaret Atwood's The Handmaid's Tale" (SLJ)

The country of Arketta calls them Good Luck Girls—they know their luck is anything but.

Sold to a “welcome house” as children and branded with cursed markings.

Trapped in a life they would never have chosen.

When one of them accidentally murders a man, five girls risk a dangerous escape and harrowing journey to find freedom, justice, and revenge in a country that wants them to have none of those things. Pursued by Arketta's most vicious and powerful forces, both human and inhuman, their only hope lies in a bedtime story passed from one Good Luck Girl to another, a story that only the youngest or most desperate would ever believe.

It's going to take more than luck for them all to survive.

City of Stone and Silence

Django Wexler

Book two in a cinematic fantasy trilogy featuring a fierce young woman skilled in the art of combat magic on an epic mission to steal a ghost ship

After months aboard the legendary ghost ship Soliton, Isoka and the rest of the crew finally arrive at their mysterious destination—a city of great stone ziggurats, enshrouded in a ghostly veil of unwelcoming magic. And they're not alone.

By night, monstrous living corpses wander in search of prey. By day, royalty, monks, and madmen live in a precarious balance. The one thing they all agree on is that escape is impossible, but Isoka refuses to give up. She must capture Soliton and return it to her home city of Kahnzoka, or her sister Tori's life will be forfeit.

But there's more to Tori's life back in Kahnzoka than Isoka believes. In secret, Tori helps run a sanctuary for mage-bloods fleeing the Emperor's iron fist, and her work takes her deep into the mires of intrigue and revolution. But that's not her only secret—she commands the power of Kindre, the Well of Mind, which can bend others to its will. Though she's spent her life denying this brutal magic, Tori will use whatever means she has to fight for the people who need her help.

Joanna Hathaway

Battles, revolution, and romance collide in Joanna Hathaway's stunning, World Wars-inspired Southern Sun, Northern Star

Reeling from the tragedy that beset her family, Princess Aurelia has joined the resistance in Havenspur, spying on the Northern leaders who were once her allies and determined to stop her uncle's machinations for war. Meanwhile, her beloved pilot Athan leads his squadron into battle as the Safire wage a losing war abroad and combat growing unrest back home.

When Athan is sent on leave to Havenspur following the death of a comrade, the pair reunite and rekindle their romance until Aurelia uncovers one of Athan's secrets, a secret that could save countless lives. But exposing it to the right people will cost her Athan's trust, and this time, their shared memories of love might not be enough to stop the fateful path of destruction that threatens all they've fought to defend.

As history unfolds around them, every move they make drives them one step closer to either recreating their parents' shadowed past or redeeming the alliance that could bring peace.

The breathtaking finale to a legendary series. Part war drama, part romance, Southern Sun, Northern Star is the epic conclusion to the Glass Alliance series.

The only catch? To stay in this life, she has to help the director of Vale Hall take down the bad guys of Sikawa City by collecting secrets and running cons.

Getting everything she wants and fighting evil doesn't seem like such a bad deal. The thing is, she's not so convinced anymore that Dr. Odin is really going after bad people after all. Sparrow

A Novel

Mary Cecilia Jackson

In the tradition of Laurie Halse Anderson’s Speak, a devastating yet hopeful YA debut about a ballerina who finds the courage to confront the abuse that haunts her past and threatens her future.

There are two kinds of people on the planet. Hunters and prey.

I thought I would be safe after my mother died. I thought I could stop searching for new places to hide. But you can’t escape what you are, what you’ve always been.

My name is Savannah Darcy Rose.

And I am still prey.

Though Savannah Rose—“Sparrow” to her friends and family—is a gifted ballerina, her real talent is keeping secrets. Schooled in silence by her long-dead mother, Sparrow has always believed that her lifelong creed—“I’m not the kind of girl who tells”—will make her just like everyone else: Normal. Happy. Safe. But in the aftermath of a brutal assault by her seemingly perfect boyfriend Tristan, Sparrow must finally find the courage to confront the ghosts of her past, or lose herself forever....

PRAISE

“Mary Cecilia Jackson leaves no perspective unexplored in this beautifully woven story of love, loss, self-acceptance, and strength. Sparrow and Lucas are heroes in every sense of the word, as they navigate a new, unfamiliar dance—the pain of knowing when to stay grounded and when to fly.” —Jennifer Brown, bestselling author of Hate List

Mary Cecilia Jackson has worked as a middle school teacher, an adjunct instructor of college freshmen, a technical writer and editor, a speechwriter, a museum docent, and a development officer for central Virginia’s PBS and NPR stations. Her first novel, Sparrow, was an honor recipient of the SCBWI Sue Alexander Award and a young adult finalist in the Writers’ League of Texas manuscript contest. She lives with her architect husband, William, in Western North Carolina and Hawaii.

This Light Between Us: A Novel of World War II

Andrew Fukuda

A powerfully affecting story of World War II and the unlikely of pen pals—a Japanese American boy and a French Jewish girl—as they fight to maintain hope in a time of war

"I remember visiting Manzanar and standing in the windswept plains where over ten thousand internees were once imprisoned, their voices cut off. I remember how much I wanted to write a story that did right by them. Hopefully this book delivers."—Andrew Fukuda

In 1935, ten-year-old Alex Maki, from Bainbridge Island, Washington, is disgusted when he's forced to become pen pals with Charlie Lévy of Paris, France—a girl. He thought she was a boy. In spite of Alex's reluctance, their letters continue to fly across the Atlantic, along with the shared hopes and dreams of friendship. Until the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and the growing Nazi persecution of Jews force both young people to confront the darkest aspects of human nature. From the desolation of an internment camp on the plains of Manzanar to the horrors of Auschwitz and the devastation of European battlefields, the only thing they can hold onto are the memories of their letters. But nothing can dispel the light between them.

Catfishing on CatNet

A Novel

Naomi Kritzer

How much does the internet know about YOU? A thought-provoking near future YA thriller that could not be more timely.

Because her mom is always on the move, Steph hasn't lived anywhere longer than six months. Her only constant is an online community called CatNet—a social media site where users upload cat pictures—a place she knows she is welcome. What Steph doesn't know is that the admin of the site, CheshireCat, is a sentient A.I.

When a threat from Steph's past catches up to her and CheshireCat's existence is discovered by outsiders, it's up to Steph and her friends, both online and IRL, to save her.

A surprising, heartfelt near-future YA thriller about the topical issues of online privacy and out-of-control technology, and the importance of making connections in an increasingly fragmented society by award-winning author Naomi Kritzer, whose short story "Cat Pictures Please" won the Hugo Award and Locus Award and was a finalist for the Nebula Award.

Strange Exit

Parker Peevyhouse

A suspenseful, near-future, stand-alone thriller for fans of Kass Morgan's The 100 and Patrick Ness's More Than This

The end of the world came and went. The survivors escaped into a simulated reality, a world of impossibilities and mysteries where human minds could live while the earth healed. A world that was programmed to end. But never did.

Now the strange sanctuary is breaking down. And only seventeen-year-old Lake remembers none of this is real. She spends her days searching a strange, postapocalyptic landscape for people who have forgotten the real world and helps them escape.

But time's running out before the simulation fails, and Lake's only ally, Taren, is making decisions about who's worth saving and who must be sacrificed for the greater good.

Now, Lake has no choice but to pit herself against Taren in a race to save everyone. Not just the lucky few.

PRAISE

"This post-apocalyptic novel will have wide appeal amongst gamers and fans of this genre....Caught in a tangle of strangely surreal settings, readers will find themselves questioning what is real and what is a simulation." —School Library Connection

"The tension increases with each layer of reality Lake peels away. Compulsively readable." —Booklist, starred review

"Strange Exit is an exciting entrée into science-fiction, a beautifully-written story sure to please the Trekkie, the X-Phile, or the most ardent of realists. Peevyhouse has invented a new genre: the VR space-romp. And I am very much here for it." —David Arnold, New York Times bestse...

PARKER PEEVYHOUSE lives in the San Francisco Bay Area and works at Hicklebee's Children's Bookstore. Parker is the author of The Echo Room and a critically acclaimed collection of novellas for young adults, Where Futures End, which was named a best book for teens by the New York Public Library, Chicago Public Library, and Bank Street. Parker is likely trying to solve a puzzle at this very moment while enjoying In-N-Out fries, admiring redwood trees, and quoting movies about sentient robots.

Meet Me at Midnight

Jessica Pennington

Feuding summer neighbors fall for each other in this charming YA romantic comedy for fans of Morgan Matson

Sidney and Asher have spent every summer together since they were twelve. Every year it's the same—in between cookouts and boat rides and family-imposed bonfires, the sworn rivals spend their dog days finding the ultimate ways to prank each other.

Now, the summer after their senior year, their stretch of forced family vacations is nearing an end, and both are determined to make this summer the most epic yet. When both of their families are kicked out of their beloved beach houses just one week into their eight-week vacation, their final summer is suddenly in jeopardy.

Despite the new and horrendously cramped accommodations, Sidney expects her vacation to continue as usual. Then she gets a note—Meet me at midnight. Asher has a proposition for her: join forces for one last summer of epic pranks, pitted against a shared enemy—the woman who kicked them out of their beloved vacation homes. With their attention finally on something other than tormenting one another, Sydney and Asher will discover if they can put their pasts aside and actually work as a team. Not to mention if they can ignore the attraction rapidly building between them.

PRAISE

"Sweet and real, and fans of Sarah Dessen or Meg Cabot will find themselves hoping these pranksters find true love. With a light romance, humor, and summers full of swimming, parties, and bonfires, this is a perfect beach read."--School Library Journal

"Pennington crafts two believable teens ensnared in a hate-to-love romance that is addictingly enjoyable. The comedic matchup between Sidney, a meticulous overthinker, and the charming yet snarky Asher will have readers rooting for the duo. A steamy, prank-filled summer romance that readers will devour."--Kirkus Reviews

"Does Jessica Pennington have a PhD in chemistry? Because the sparks were FLY..."

JESSICA PENNINGTON is no stranger to the combination of love and drama. She's a wedding planner, after all. A serial entrepreneur with a BA in public relations, Pennington has a passion for grassroots marketing. She lives in a Michigan beach town, where she owns more YA novels than many teens and spends most of her time on a laptop, rather than a beach.
